MARS BICENTENNIAL

Science is not so fascinated with the Bicentennial as most of the country, but space physicists in Pasadena are missing a Bicentennial touchdown for Viking I on Mars because of poor terrain.

Actually, it is a coincident of celestial circumstance and earthly possibility.

The primary landing site which was within the earth timetable for a July 4 landing proves too rough for a landing. Viking I is too sensitive for a rock landing.

After a 35-million-mile trip from earth, Viking I at least deserves a chance to touchdown without exploding its mission over the Martian landscape.

Plenty of "rockets and red glare" will flash July 4 above the North American earthscape though, while Viking I is orbiting for a safe landing and twin Viking II is awaiting the "go signal" which may have to precede No. 1.

It is a technical problem of getting one or both Vikings down with sensitive packages of instruments, measuring devices and cameras which will tell more about the Martian environment science suspects has sustained or now sustains life.

A river basin about 18 miles northwest of the original site is being considered. Imagine, dried up river beds on Mars, perhaps the size of the Mississippi at one time. What would Mark Twain think of that?

What would Lief Erickson think of a Viking ship shaped in a ball and so sensitive it required alternative locations to land? Lief would have gone into to Greenland or what became New Foundland with less consideration.

Viking I has been sending back pictures of the original landing site from an orbit which allows the smallest view of Mars the size of a football field. This is not detailed enough to see how rough the area is.

Planet Mars is about half the diameter of earth. And Viking I and II have been traveling toward the smaller planet for months.

Indeed, a Bicentennial landing would have been as important for earth reasons as the first manned moon landing in 1969 on earth's moon only 230,000 miles away. But a manless landing is not as interesting as a 200th birthday of a great nation.

Science was hoping to bring off the coincidence of the Viking landing and that birthday.

The irony of the missed July 4 landing may yet be realized: the Declaration of Independence in this country was not actually completed on July 4 either. The date was chosen later.

Areans Mark Bicentennial

Lt. Col. Kenneth Thompson, chaplain at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, will deliver the principal address at a special bicentennial worship service to be held at Yoe Stadium on Sunday, July 4.

The service will start at 7:45 p.m. with music by the Yoe High Band. At 8 p.m. the welcome will be extended ed by Rev. John Homerstad.

Salute to the flags will include the Christian flag led by Girls Scouts; the U. S. flag, Boy Scouts; Texas flag, audience sings Texas Our Texas; bicentennial flags with a solo by Mrs. Sharon McCullin.

Rev. Darryl Proffitt will give the invocation and the audience will sing

America. Scripture will be given by Rev. L. L. V. Jones followed by Rev. Henry Weston. "We bring our gifts of love." The community choir will sing America the Beautiful and Battle Hymn of the Republic.

The audience will sing the national hymn with introduction of the speaker by Rev. Vernon Detreich. Phil Smith will sing a solo, The Star Spangled Banner," before the address which entitled "Taking the Long Look. The benediction will be given by Rev. Mike Gonzales.

The last choir rehearsal for the community choir will be at 6:30 p.m. July 4 at the First Baptist Church. A members are urged to attend.

Fireworks

Fireworks, over $1,000 worth of them, will start going off at the Cameron Country Club at 9:15 p.m. Sunday and the public is invited to watch.

The fireworks are a project of the Cameron Bicentennial Commission adding $1,000 to the traditional country club display.

The Fourth will be celebrated at the country club with games, races and golf, plus barbecue for lunch and supper.

The competition for age 6 and under includes a foot race across pool and back, breath holding contest, free style swim race, free-style off diving board, and a golf ball throw.

For ages 7, 8, and 9, swimming race, underwater distance competition, breath holding, underwater somersault, golf ball throw.

Ages 10, 11, and 12 will compete in swimming, underwater distance race, backstroke race, underwater somersault, and golf ball throw.

There will also be an open diving contest for ages 7 and up.

First place trophies will be given in all divisions and ribbons will go to first, second, and third in each event.

Buckholts

Everything in Buckholts stands in readiness for a large crowd of visitors and residents come to celebrate the city's Bicentennial Homecoming on Sunday, July 4.

Events will start with a community church service at 10 a.m. at the Buckholts High School. At 11, opening ceremonies will be held downtown and at 11:15 food booths will open.

Starting at 1 p.m., music by Bill Henderson's band will live things up and at 2 p.m. the new Buckholts State Bank will start an open house lasting until 6 p.m. In conjunction with the opening there will be stage coach rides and a hot air balloon.

At 3 p.m., the entertainment will continue with hay rides, a cow chip throwing contests, and an armadillo race. At 4:30 there will be bands, food, country store, and a flea market opening.

Handmade items including beautiful quilts will be auctioned off starting at 6. At 7, the Seaton Beseda Dancers and Singer's will provide musical entertainment.

A street dance will start at 8 p.m. with music by Der Rhein Steins of Cameron and a contest winning FFA band from Franklin. The Rhein Steins will also perform during the afternoon.

Everyone in the area is invited to come and join the fun at Buckholts.

TWU Mobile Unit Sells Visit For Health Careers

DENTON

A 26-foot mobile unit from Texas Woman's University will be parked in the parking area at St. Edward Hospital from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. July 12.

Using slide presentations and question-and-answer sessions, TWU field service personnel will present information about careers in health fields.

TWU offers a wide variety of career choices to potential students in the health sciences, such as nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, music therapy, therapeutic recreation, and health education.

Other such fields are dietetics, medical record administration, medical technology, dental hygiene, pre-dental training, pre-medical training, pre-veterinarian training, speech and hearing therapy, and public health nutrition.

Prospective university students want information about careers in the health sciences are also invited to see the exhibits in the mobile unit during its visit to Cameron.

Alcoa Plant Using New Smelting Process

PALESTINE

The world's first commercial aluminum production by the new Alcoa Smelting Process is underway at Aluminum Company of America's Anderson County Works near Palestine. The first "pour" of 5,200 pounds marked the beginning of daily operations at Alcoa's fourth Texas plant.

The new process, developed by the company over a 15-year period at a cost of $25 million, will reduce electrical requirements between 30 and 40 percent compared with the traditional Hall process used today.

Official dedication of Anderson County Works is scheduled for July 28 with Governor Dolph Briscoe and Alcoa board chairman W. H. Krome George of Pittsburgh on hand.

"This is an historic occasion for Alcoa and the aluminum industry," said Fred P. Bergeron, Alcoa's Texas area manager, after the first metal pouring. "We have been looking forward to this event since our announcement in 1973 to build a smelter here. However, this is only a preliminary step as far as the total project is concerned."

County Accepts Commissioner's Resignation

County commissioners met in special session Tuesday morning to accept the resignation of Commissioner Dalton Caffey of Precinct 4, effective July 15.

County Judge O. B. Harden said Caffey had told him he has found another job which he hopes will provide better for him and his family. Harden also said that inflation has curbed his activities as a commissioner.

Commissioners will appoint a successor to fill Caffey's duties and the new commissioner will be in office until the general election in November.

Minor Mishap Nets Slight Injuries

A minor accident in which a 3-year old child was slightly injured was reported Monday. The child was riding in a car driven by Stella Balboa of Cameron which was in collision with another vehicle driven by Frank Richter of Cameron.

The collision occurred as the Balboa vehicle attempted to cross Highway 36 west of Cameron and Richter was traveling west on the highway.

The initial phase of the East Texas plant will have a capacity of 15,000 tons of primary aluminum annually by late this year. Alcoa plans to expand the facility to 300,000 tons per year, which would make Anderson County Works the nation's largest aluminum smelter.

The plant has approximately 160 employees and the chief construction contractor, H. B. Zachry Company of San Antonio, has another 100 people on the site. Projections indicate that Alcoa may employ as many as 1,000 when ultimate design capacity is reached.

Library Board Elects Stroup New Chairman

The Cameron library board named L. W. Stroup new chairman in a regular meeting Monday afternoon. He replaces retiring chairman, Mrs. Perry Holder.

Other new officers include Wayne Mann, vice-chairman; and Mrs. Kay Green, secretary.

Mrs. Katherine Looney, librarian, reported that Mrs. Vickie Proffitt will have charge of the Story Hour for young children starting Thursday, July 8 at 10:30 a.m. at the library.

Board discussed whether or not the library will again receive funds from Friends of the Library, which usually schedules a membership drive in August. Other funds for the library come from the city, partly from the budget and partly from revenue sharing.

Summer hours for the library are Monday through Thursday, 10:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Six Charged With Possession

Rockdale police arrested six persons Saturday night and charged them with misdemeanor possession. The six were released from jail on Sunday under $500 bonds.

Arrested at the Rainbow Courts in Rockdale were Lanette McKee, her husband William McKee; Mary Beth Sonntag, Kevin Davis, Tommy McGuire, and James Roy Young, all of Rockdale.

HERALD CLASSIFIEDS BRING RESULTS

GRAND STANCE--These all aluminum grandstands, using extruded components produced by Aluminum Company of America, will shorten lines waiting to tour the White House during the nation's Bicentennial celebration. Tourists waiting to journey through the White House will use the bleachers to view entertainment taking place at the President's Park on the Ellipse, between the White House and the Washington Monument. The stands are manufactured by Stadiums Unlimited, Inc. Alcoa operates four plants in Texas and produces more metal here than in any other state.

Vrazel Band To Perform In Washington

Milam County will be taking part in the nation's bicentennial celebration this month on the Washington, D.C. mall when the Vrazel Polka Band from Milam plays for thousands of visitors.

Members of the band will leave July 13 and will play from the 14th through the 18th of July. They will be the only Czech band performing amid other ethnic groups on the 50-acre mall between the Lincoln and Washington monuments.

Alfred Vrazel, leader of the band, said the band was recommended by a Professor Jacobson of the University of Texas and that's how the band was chosen for a national performance.

Vrazel, happy over the honor to his band, told The Herald, "I never thought we'd go that far." The band was formed over 20 years ago and has been performing each Sunday on the radio for 21 years. The band is also a popular attraction for dances in a wide area of the state.

The ethnic celebration in Washington is being sponsored by the Smithsonian Institute.

DPS Urges Safety Over 4th

AUSTIN

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said today indications are that some 42 persons will be killed in Texas traffic accidents during the Fourth of July weekend, and called upon Texas drivers to "prove our estimate is too high."

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said his department expects "unusually heavy traffic" throughout the state, especially around recreational areas and where Bicentennial celebrations are scheduled.

He said the estimate covers a 78-hour period which starts at 6 p.m. Friday and continues until midnight Monday, July 5.

During a comparable period last year, the department estimated that 54 persons would be killed during the holiday period. At the conclusion of the July 4 holiday last year, statewide statistics indicated 44 lives lost and rose to 49 with late reports.

In a concerted effort to keep deaths down, the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in an all-out effort to make the streets and highways as safe as possible. All available DPS troopers will be on duty, Speir indicated, and they will be especially watchful for drinking drivers, speeders, and persons driving in a reckless manner.

In addition, the DPS will be working with the news media in a special public education program termed "Operation Motorcade" which focuses public attention on where and why fatal accidents are occurring during the holiday period.

TWU mobile unit welcomes students who are interested in health careers. The unit will be at St. Edward Hospital July 12 and anyone interested is urged to visit.

Multi-Megaton Proportions...

We understand the House Administration Committee is hesitating in deliberations about reforms on payroll and expense accounts for Congress.

This is the committee previously headed by Rep. Wayne Hays, Democrat of Ohio, who acknowledged a payroll affair with Elizabeth Ray, whose book "Washington Fringe Benefit" is a fictionalized account of "sexcapades" not unlike her relationship with the deposed Hays.

It is a presidential election year. It is less than a month before the New York Democratic Convention, less than two months before the Kansas City Republican Convention.

The new chairman is looking at the impact of the Administration Committee's action. Panic is setting in among Congress which until recently has been using "exchange" for years for foreign junkets and in documented cases padded expenses on domestic travels.

In effect, a countering factor of the impact of Watergate against Republicans and the executive branch is in the Committee's hands. The reform proposals cleared Congress within weeks of the Hays' disclosures.

Hays is a Democrat and a powerful Midwestern congressman who was renominated over light opposition. His and Wilbur Mills' gambol have given reform-oriented Democratic congressmen material to attack the Congressional seniority system.

But the reaction to Hays and similar incidents is going much further. It is a reaction to Congress itself, which promises retribution for everybody, not only the elder statesmen.

The White House is up for grabs in November. And polls now show Jimmy Carter leading either President Ford or Ronald Reagan. But if the stigmata attaches to all of Congress, the strength of a Democratic-controlled congress will be diluted because Carter is from outside. He can't be expected to condone any of this since it is before his time and a liability for his fall campaign.

The Congress must police itself. And if the reforms before the House Administration Committee are diluted, it is a political force of multi-megaton proportions in a presidential year.

Hard Days Ahead...

Jimmy Carter is coming to Houston for a fund-raising project after a sputtering "honor Robert Strauss" conclave there June 17 which drew only Jerry Brown and raised maybe a fourth to a tenth of an anticipated $200,000.

The Democratic Party of Texas has had financial problems since John Connally and the early Preston Smith. The fund raiser for National Chairman Strauss, of Dallas, was supposed to retire an $80,000 debt and increase Democratic coffers for the July Democratic Convention and fall elections.

Perhaps the state of Texas Democratic leadership is told by these events. The national party nominee must come in to help raise money here, the same nominee whose caucus support is in Bob Armstrong, the Texas Land Commissioner, but titlularly headed by Governor Briscoe.

While the Republicans win few state elections in Texas, they have a budget of perhaps half a million while, reports say, a group called Associated Republicans has another quarter million dollars. They are obviously building.

It takes more than money. It takes leadership people. That amalgam seems to have diminished in the past few years in Austin, clearing the way for the Texas Establishment, the people who make major contributions, to choose in a two-party system.

Just as John Kennedy hoped to heal the breach in Texas politics on his ill-fated Texas visit of 1963, and other than in the trauma of his assassination failed, Georgian Jimmy Carter is being asked to solve a Texas problem beyond outside solution.

Continued hard days are ahead for the majority party which in most of the country is no longer a majority party.

Dateline Austin

Group Asks $500 Million For Roads

-Texas Good Roads Association wants $500 million a year in additional state highway fund revenues to avert a financial "crisis" in road building.

The 2,000 - member group, at its meeting here, adopted a resolution calling on Gov. Dolph Briscoe and the legislature to deliver the funds.

Suggestions: using highway user tax revenues now going to the general fund or tapping other general funds and new sources.

The resolution also proposed restructuring state highway user tax rates to make them "responsive to inflation."

Studies indicate a backlog of $11 billion in highway improvement projects and anticipated revenues for construction during the next 20 years of only $1.9 billion, TGRA said.

"All existing revenue will be needed by 1980 just to maintain the existing state highway system, with no funds available for upgrading obsolete roads and bridges for new construction," the resolution continued.

TGRA said Texas highway user taxes are now the lowest in the nation.

Parties Battle

Democrats and Republicans wound up their state conventions, and Democrats are still fighting.

Houston City Controller Leonel Castillo has announced he will oppose Calvin Guest of Bryan for chairmanship of the state Democratic party if he can get backing.

Castillo already is campaigning with various caucuses within the party.

Gov. Briscoe served notice at the Houston convention he is determined to keep Guest for a third term as chairman. But Briscoe didn't do so well in electing his choices to Democratic National Committee places at the Houston convention. And the same delegates who served there will be back for the September session at Fort Worth, where state party control is determined.

Industries Locate

Fourteen new industries which may make Texas $67.2 million a year richer elected to locate in the state during May.

M.W. Industries Inc. and Optron, Inc. (manufacturing crystal holders and electronic systems) picked Mineral Wells, where they will add 400 jobs and $10 million in payroll.

Others are San Antonio Shoe Company; Pinckert Welding Manufacturing Company, Dallas; Sticks and Stones Unlimited, Dallas; Norton Co., Stephenville; Fisher Controls Co., Sherman; Synthetic Materials Corp and Aceco of Texas Inc., Houston; U.S. Steel Corp., Baytown; Activa Products Inc. and Martex Glass Co., Marshall; Diesel Exchange Inc., Longview and Dumas Milling Co., Dumas.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court agreed with an intermediate court that a city can add fuel adjustment costs to gas and electric bills without city council authority every month of the charge.

The high court ordered an intermediate court here to consider on its merits a district court decision prohibiting the State Board of Pharmacy from enforcing a limit on prescription drug advertising.

In two other actions, the Supreme Court:

— Agreed to hear oral arguments in General Dynamics Corp.'s suit to recover more than $2 million in franchise taxes paid under protest during 1968-1971.

— Refused to direct Henderson County Clerk Joe Dan Fowler to let an abstract company copy its

Dear editor:

Take the space probe of Mars. As I understand it, the spacecraft, traveling at more than a million miles a day, takes nine months to get from Earth to Mars, which is over 270 million miles as the crow flies, which is so far that it takes 18 minutes for a message to get from here to there.

Right off you can see we're in trouble. What if there is life up there? How is the telephone company going to figure out the right charge for a two-minute call to Mars when it takes 18 minutes just for the first hello to get there?

According to the articles I've been reading in the papers in between sex scandals the current space probe is costing one billion dollars. Makes a $14,000-a-year scandal in Washington look cheap, but that's beside the point.

The point is say some infinitesimally small form of life, no bigger than a virus, doctors are always blaming your sickness on when they can't figure out what's causing it, is found on Mars. You know good and well scientists are going to go wild and start hollering for more money to check out more planets.

So we give it to them. But we're told there are millions and millions, no, billions and billions, of planets out there in the unending universe. Now at a billion dollars a probe, and that's just for Mars, a piddling 270 million miles away, you can see how much money it's going to take if this thing keeps up.

Say we explore just a handful of them, like two or three million or so, you can see the cost is going to run up to $1,000,000,000,000,000,000 or as far out as you've got zeroes on your type-setting machine.

At that point we won't be able to stop. We'll have to keep going until we find a planet inhabited by intelligent creatures each one richer than Howard Hughes. Then Congress will have to admit that planet as the 51st state and set up a graduated income tax for its citizens starting at 90 percent and working gradually up. This way we might break even, if you don't figure in the interest.

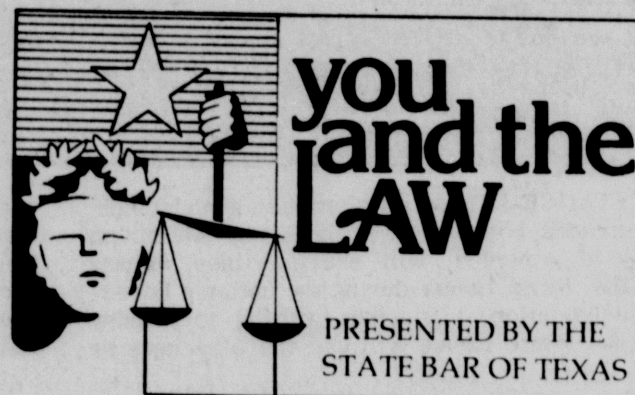

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TEXAS 1876

SAN ANTONIO — Inspector of State Prisons J. K. P. Campbell has transmitted his annual report to the governor, who will in turn send it to the legislature. He reports a total prison population of 1,723. 1,280 are working on railroad construction and 443 in industries around the prisons. Prisoners range from 11 to 69 years of age. One third are 25 years old or younger. The inspector charges that state prison facilities are inadequate to house the prisoners, and that food and clothing are inadequate. He urges separation of children from hardened criminals and recommends a house of corrections instead of a prison for them.

GALVESTON — An enterprising gentleman of this city proposes selling poultry by the pound instead of by the head. This system would improve the quality of chickens sent to market. The plan has worked well where tried and a progressive city like this might take a move in the matter.

ADVERTISED IN LEADING TEXAS NEWSPAPERS — Lockwood's Saloon West Side of Alamo Plaza. Established in 1866. Old, Tried and True! Currency taken at par! Open all night! The quality of liquor sold at this bar is the best recommendation to the public. A cozy reading room attached to the saloon where papers from all over the country will be found on file. Come ye that are athirst and ye shall depart with moistened lips. Come ye that are "Sad and Weary" and ye shall go on your way rejoicing. A. I. Lockwood, Proprietor.

Q: My late aunt died three years ago and left several hundred dollars in a safety deposit box. She left no will, and her sister asked me to help her get access to the safety deposit box because she's too ill to travel. A lawyer told me we'd have to go to court, even though there is no other relative who wants the money. I can't understand why we have to go to court to get the money.

A: State laws concerning the estates of persons who die without a will provide very strict requirements designed to protect the interest of all relatives and other persons involved. Before the bank can release the funds, you must submit proof of death, an affidavit of heirship, and an order of the probate court.

Q: I retained a lawyer to represent me in a personal injury case resulting from an automobile accident. We reached a settlement with the insurance company representing the other person involved in the accident. How will I know when my lawyer receives the check from the insurance company?

A: The attorney's code of ethics, which is called the Code of Professional Responsibility, requires lawyers to protect their clients' funds by placing them in a bank trust account separate from the law firm's general operating account. When the insurance company sends your lawyer the check in payment of your claim, your lawyer must place that check in this separate bank account and promptly notify you that the check has arrived. Your lawyer also must promptly pay you the proceeds remaining from the check following deduction for his fee, if that is the arrangement for payment of his fee, or must send you a check for the full amount if some other fee arrangement has been reached.

Q: My son was arrested while he was involved with some other boys and their case is going to come up in juvenile court. We believe he got in trouble because of the influence of these other boys. Can we keep him from running around with them?

A: If a juvenile court declares your son to be either a delinquent or a child in need of supervision, the judge could order the other boys to appear in juvenile court to be questioned about why they shouldn't be prohibited from seeing your son... the judge then could issue an order prohibiting these boys from associating with your son.

Q: Is my husband's permission required for selling stock issued in my name?

A: No. Texas law no longer gives the husband full control and management of a married couple's community estate. A wife now has full control and management of her separate property and all community property acquired solely with the wife's earnings.

A steam-powered tricycle built in 1769 could carry four people and go at two miles per hour.

County 4-H News

By Chris Holcombe

The month of June has been a busy one for Milam County 4-H'ers. Texas 4-H Roundup at A&M started the month off with a bang. Fourteen Milam County 4-H'ers, five adult leaders, and two agents participated in this event.

The senior entomology team composed of Curtis Wise, Wayne Elley, Rosemary Ehler, Christopher Riola, and coached by Larry Hawk, placed first in state. Curtis was the high point individual with a score of 198 out of 200. Wayne was second high individual with a score of 190.

The Milam County senior safety team composed of Beverly Biar and Teresa Beasley placed fourth. They are members of the Thorndale 4-H club and this was their first year as seniors.

Rebecca Riola participated in the Breads and Desserts category of the State 4-H Food Show. She tied for 4th place out of 14. Rebecca made Molasses Whole Wheat Bread. Rebecca was also interviewed for one of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation Scholarships. This can be used anywhere in the state, but she must study agriculture.

The Milam County 4-H Dairy Team composed of Peter Riola, Gery Hollas, Gary Mitchan, Donnie Marak, and Leroy Stephens placed 9th in the state contest. Carl Tomascik was one of their assistant coaches.

Vanessa Marak placed 11th in the conservation of natural resources contest. This was also her first year at the state contest.

Accompanying this group were Mrs. Harold Biar, Mrs. William Beasley, Mrs. Johnny Marak, Mrs. Charles Riola, Mr. Charles Riola, Kenneth Waites, and Chris Holcombe.

On June 14, 12 Milam County 4-H'ers and 2 agents left for District 10 4-H Leadership Lab at the state 4-H Center at Brownwood. Those attending included Lorna Biar and Kenny Patin of Thorndale, Sandy Vogelpohl, Karen Pelzel, Leroy Stephens, and Denise Biehle of Rockdale; Rebecca Riola, Peter Riola, Christopher Riola, Vanessa Marak, and

Scientists Study Water Depletion

Ground water depletion--widespread throughout the Great Plains--is an overriding problem in efficient resource utilization, according to Dr. Jack Runkles, water research scientist and director of the Texas Water Resources Institute.

"It's vitally important," stressed Runkles, "to initiate research on problems like this and the land subsidence situation along the Gulf Coast." He also is a water resources scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The Water Resources Institute is a statewide research agency established in 1964 by the Water Resources Research Act.

"In the last 18 months," explained Runkles, "we have developed the National Association of Water Institute Directors (NAWID), in an attempt to align state institutes with the National Association of Land Grant Colleges."

NAWID's council of representatives, of which Runkles is a member representing the Southern Plains region, includes directors from Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma.

The national association began formulating regional participation as a basis for solving problems a year and a half ago. Previously, state institute programs were conducted individually under the auspices of the U. S. Department of the Interior.

The Lonely Heart

Curtis Wise of Cameron; and Lori Tomascik of Buckholts. Accompanying this group were agents Chris Holcombe and Vivian Pittman.

On June 21, the State 4-H Roping School at Stephenville opened. This school went through June 26. Attending from Milam County were Larry Jackson and Gary Bleeker, both of Rockdale, and Kenneth Waites, extension agent.

The tenth annual 4-H ecology conference at the State 4-H Center at Brownwood opened on June 22. Attending as two of the six delegates from District 10 were Larry Hawk and Curtis Wise, both of Cameron. Chris

Sunday Break To Feature Fleetwood Mac

Mayday Productions, producers of last May's highly successful "Sunday Break," announced today the singing of Fleetwood Mac and The Band to appear at an outdoor rock concert on Sunday, Sept. 5 (Labor Day Weekend) on the shores of Lake Austin.

Billed as "Sunday Break II," the event is to be held 18 miles west of Austin in a grassy natural amphitheater on the 5,000-acre Steiner Ranch, off FM 620 below Mansfield Dam. The site is easily accessible by Highway 183, Highway 71, or FM 2222.

Promoter Win Anderson stated that five more bands and an emcee are still to be booked. "We are negotiating with several other acts comparable to Fleetwood Mac," said Anderson, "and hope to have a final line-up within the next few weeks."

Fleetwood Mac, whose latest album has been in the top 10 for the last six months and on the best seller charts for almost a year, will be making an exclusive Texas appearance at the festival. The Band, renowned for their work with Bob Dylan in the past, will make only one other appearance in the state prior to the Labor Day weekend show.

Tickets are priced at $10 advance general admission and will go on sale next weekend at the following locations: Austin--MG Tapes on the drag next to Texas Theater and Armadillo World Headquarters; Dallas--Preston Ticket Agency; Fort Worth--Central Ticket Agency; Houston--Foley's. For mail order tickets, send cashier's check or money order to "The Sunday Break II," P. O. Box 15207, Austin, TX 78761. Tickets at the gate are $12.50.

Church Reschedules Worship Services

The First Christian Church of Cameron will schedule Sunday school classes and church services at an earlier time and will begin broadcasting services on KMIL.

Beginning Sunday, June 27, Sunday school classes will start at 9 a.m. and church services at 10 a.m.

On Sunday, July 4, church services will be broadcasted on KMIL from 10:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. The Fourth of July service will initiate the broadcasting of future services. The congregation and minister, L. C. Reece, urge shut-ins to mark that date and hope many inactive persons can be reached by the broadcasts.

SBA Loan Officer Sets Bryan Visit

C. H. Creed, SBA loan officer, will be at the Bryan-College Station Chamber of Commerce from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Wednesday, July 7.

Creed comes to Bryan-College Station on a regular monthly basis as part of the SBA's continuing effort to cooperate with area banks and to make its services known and available to all interested persons.

The Chamber of Commerce Office is located at 401 South Washington Ave., Bryan. The telephone number is 822-3721. Future visits will be made to this area on the first Wednesday of each month.

Holcombe took the boys to Brownwood and Bill McCutchen picked them up on June 25.

District 10 4-H Citizenship Day was held June 29 at the Johnson City. Attending from Milam County were Johnny Marak Jr. of Cameron and Lorna and Beverly Biar of Thorndale. They were accompanied by Kenneth Waites. In addition to all this going, 4-H'ers have been busy with playdays, and getting ready for the Milam County 4-H Dress Revue, which was held on June 28 at the educational building of Hope Lutheran Church in Buckholts. For details see next week's paper.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The
TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

Crop, Livestock Reports Needed... July 4 Prospects.
More than 30,000 Texas agricultural producers are cooperating with the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in its quest for information about livestock and crops.

About 3,500 Texas livestock producers have been sent questionnaires relating to livestock figures. These inquiries will be the basis for estimating the state's livestock population as well as classes of livestock. The questionnaires were mailed during the latter part of this month.

If you received a questionnaire and haven't returned it yet, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service is requesting you to do so as soon as possible.

The information is confidential. No individual report will be issued. They will be used in county and state totals. Early in July, more than 27,000 Texas agricultural producers will receive a crop questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Information obtained from these reports will be used in setting county totals for various crops. As is the case with the livestock reports, they are confidential and will not be disclosed on an individual basis.

They will be used in county and state totals.

If you receive one of these questionnaires, you are requested to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it promptly.

CROP PROSPECTS THROUGHOUT THE STATE this coming July 4 weekend are not in some areas "busting out all over", but neither have they completely fizzled.

Wheat harvest is about a third complete, but yields are about half of what they were last year.

Oat harvest also has made good progress with about three-fourths of that crop now cut; however, many farmers have elected to bale their crop for hay.

Sorghum planting is completed, and prospects for a good crop appear bright in Central Texas. Stands have headed and are now maturing throughout the southern half of the state.

Cotton planting is virtually finished as the first harvest of the crop in the Rio Grande Valley is underway.

You can be assured of adequate supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables for your July 4 celebrations, thanks to the production efficiencies of Texas agricultural producers.

Tomato harvest is peaking in the central part of the state; supplies of cucumbers, okra and sweet corn remain steady in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Watermelon harvest is active throughout the state. Peach harvest is also in full swing in most areas.

Meanwhile, good to excellent range conditions are reported across the state. A few areas need moisture to sustain present growth rates. Livestock are in good condition and continue to show improvement.

Ag Credit Remains Good As Lenders Seek Loans

Agricultural producers in need of financing have a fairly good chance of getting a loan.

"There is plenty of money for agricultural loans, and a majority of lenders are actively seeking new farm and ranch loans. Furthermore, interest rates are down," says Dr. Wayne Hayenga, who conducted an agricultural credit survey recently in Texas.

Hayenga, an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, points out that more than 60 percent of the 161 agricultural lenders responding to the survey said they are serving the same number of customers and have the same number of loan applicants as they did a year ago. Twenty percent said they had more customers.

"Most of the people borrowing money are paying it back at about the same rate as last year," Hayenga says.

"Twenty-three percent of the lenders even reported a higher rate of loan repayment."

However, more bankers are requiring good financial records from borrowers before they loan money. Lenders reported that more than 60 percent of all borrowers furnished cash flow budgets, operating budgets and past income statements when applying for a loan. Last year, only 50 percent of the borrowers supplied these records.

Most of the banks in Texas have the same collateral requirements as they did a year ago, according to the survey.

"One advantage for people who borrowed money during the past year was the lower interest rates," says the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Interest rates for feeder cattle loans, real estate loans, and farm and ranch operating loans were all down slightly from 1975."

According to the survey, most lenders said they thought interest rates would stay the same but had more chance of going up than down.

About 60 percent of the lenders surveyed said they thought agricultural spending would increase in the future, and a majority said they believed ranchers' incomes would go up but farmers' incomes would stay the same, Hayenga notes.

Some 40 percent of the lenders felt the demand for short-term loans would increase in the future, and 27 percent believed the demand for long-term loans would also increase.

Hayenga says lenders reported that almost 30 percent of their borrowers contracted part of their crops, with 58 percent contracting on a quantity basis and 42 percent on an acreage basis.

Over half of the lenders said they thought the optimum amount to contract was one-half, adds the economist.

County Agent's Notes

Farmers Eager For New Ideas

By Bill McCutchen

I think some city folks still think of the American farmer with overalls, a straw hat, and a pitchfork, unwilling to change or try new ideas.

To the contrary, I find farmers more eager than any other segment to try new ideas and methods.

Skip Hobbs exhibited his twin-row grain sorghum on the tour and it was impressive to say the least. The Slavik brothers also have twin-row sorghum this year. It is on the Sneed farm and they are making it pay.

John Slavik showed me around last week and their twin-row plantings are impressive. They have two rows 12 inches apart on 38 or 40 inch beds. This was planted with a disc opener type planter and they run a sweep between the twin-rows for weed control when cultivating.

This is the start of something I expect to become a trend toward narrower rows on both grain sorghum and cotton in the next few years.

Several farmers are talking about 36" or 30" rows next year and I am sure the twin-row plantings on sorghum will continue.

In using narrower rows, plant populations per acre remain constant, but more rows allows better plant distribution and thus more potential yield because of better usage of soil moisture and sunlight.

Farmers considering narrow row or twin row know that weed control will be a little more difficult. Narrow row crops require new equipment or equipment modification which may discourage some.

At least three Milam County farmers are going to try a little guar this year. Oscar Theis of Thorndale has planted a plot of Kinman Guar. From his success on this half acre of so he will make a decision on more acreage next year. Frank Kratochvil and Kenneth Hollas are also planning to plant some guar this summer.

An old standby crop in this area for years before hybrid grain sorghum came along may be coming back again. I am speaking of corn. New hybrids are promising and this plus the fact that weed and grass control is easier on corn with existing herbicides is making farmers think about some corn in 1977.

New Fescue Is Meet Highlight

RENNER

A new Fescue grass, not yet released to the public, which provided 202 days of continuous grazing last winter under extreme drought conditions, will be highlighted July 8, at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center.

The occasion marks the annual summer meeting for members and guests of the Blackland Income Growth Program, according to J. G. Dobbs, chairman. Grandview Yield tests of more than 60 varieties of grain sorghum will be on exhibit and the production of narrow row cotton will be featured.

The BIG program will begin at 9:30 a.m. with registration and end at 2:30 p.m. following a dutch treat luncheon.

"It has been said by several soil experts that the producer who learns to use nitrogen fertilizer to the best advantage in relationship to timing amounts and placement on his crops in the Texas Blacklands will be the one who makes money," Dobbs said.

"These practices will be discussed," Dobbs added. Hybrid bermuda grasses including Callie will be shown. Dobbs pointed out that these new hybrids are more highly digestible than many of the more commonly used bermudas including Coastal.

Heading the list of speakers will be Dr. Dan Pfantliel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Dr. Jarvis E. Miller, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Another feature on the program will be a report by Dr.

Karl Mattil, director, Food Protein Research and Development Center, Texas A&M University. This feature will highlight recent innovations in production of protein for human consumption from Blackland cotton crops.

The Blackland Income Growth Program is dedicated to improving farming and livestock production through a 30-county area in North Central Texas and it is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Annual IFPP Farm Tour Set At Gause

By John E. Snell

The annual IFPP Farm Tour will be held on Friday, July 2, at 9 a.m. The tour will start at Coats' Grocery and Market in Gause and will proceed to the first stop which will be a corn variety demonstration conducted on the Brown Ely Farm.

All individuals interested in attending this event are welcome to come and see the progress being made by co-operators enrolled in the Intensified Farm Planning Program. Other co-operators are also involved in this tour.

At the end of the tour a watermelon cut will be held on the farm of L. R. Simmons which is the last stop on the tour.

Giant Step Forward American agriculture has advanced more in the past 50 years than in all the prior years of U.S. history.

This is the start of something I expect to become a trend toward narrower rows on both grain sorghum and cotton in the next few years.

Several farmers are talking about 36" or 30" rows next year and I am sure the twin-row plantings on sorghum will continue.

In using narrower rows, plant populations per acre remain constant, but more rows allows better plant distribution and thus more potential yield because of better usage of soil moisture and sunlight.

Working Together for a Better America...

We've Got the Spirit!

The spirit of America's beginning is our heritage — that many different people can work together, sharing and searching for a better life. We at Safeway represent the many and varied peoples who make up America. Working together, we take great pride in being a part of America's striving to improve the relationship between peoples. We feel that the real importance of our Bicentennial year is to make every effort towards attaining the common goals for all Americans — cooperation, understanding, and getting along together. In this spirit, Safeway's continuing hope will always be to better serve the people of our great nation.

Kolaches To Highlight Folk Festival

SAN ANTONIO

Most Texans know what kolaches are, whether the word is pronounced KO-lach or ko-LACH. That's because the Czech culture is well fused into Texas life.

This tantalizing pastry, with its scrumptious poppy-seed, prune, apricot, cream cheese, or pineapple filling, is famed in Texas as a Czechoslovakian delicacy.

Visitors to the Texas Folk Life Festival Aug. 5-8 in San Antonio will have a chance to try kolaches, and learn about other traditional aspects of Czech life. Scores of other activities are scheduled for the event at the Institute of Texan Cultures.

The Ed Kadlec family of New Braunfels will sing traditional songs, wearing costumes from their European heritage.

Czech Folk Dance Club of Dallas will perform the lively circle dances known as Besedas.

The San Antonio Czech Choral Choir will sing to the beat of the polka and waltz. Other Czech Texans will serve not only kolaches, but klobasnickies (sausage rolls) and pivo (beer.)

Advance tickets to the fifth annual festival are available now at $2 for adults, 35 cents for children under 12. Tickets will go up to $2.50 and 50 cents at the gate.

The Festival will be held on Institute grounds in HemisFair Plaza.

Couple Exchanges Wedding Vows

Miss Mary Lee Graham and Dennis Ray Rodenbeck exchanged wedding vows at St. John's United Methodist Church in Rockdale on Saturday, June 19.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy C. Graham of Thorndale; the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gore of Rockdale and Mrs. Iva Lee Graham of Thorndale; and the great granddaughter of Mrs. J. T. Graham of Houston. The groom is the son of Mrs. Amy Rodenbeck of Taylor and Pete Rodenbeck of Thorndale, and the grandson of Mrs. Alma Hartman of Taylor and Mrs. Martin Rodenbeck of Thorndale.

The Rev. Jim Willis, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church of Thorndale performed the double ring ceremony.

Debbie Miller, organist, played selections from "Love Story" and traditional wedding selections. She also accompanied Dale Caffey, trumpet, as he played "Colour My World" preceding the ceremony. "Trumpet Volunteer" was played for the recessional and "Cotton Candy" a group composed of Suzanne Sims, Tami and Robin Gray, Janice Schlechte, and the bride sang "Annie's Song." The congregation sang "Happy the Home Where God Is" and at the close of the ceremony, the bride's mother sang the "Lord's Prayer."

Arrangements of pink and valhalla carnations and baby's breath interspersed with miniature pink roses and a memory candle accented with pink organdy roses, white miniature doves, and greenery decorated the altar. Spiral brass candelabra held white tapers. Family pews were marked with hurricane lamps, greenery, and white ribbons while other pews in the church were marked with continuous white streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chiffon which featured a waistline bodice accented by a cummerbund effect that continued into a bow and a long sash in back. The high neckline and full double bishop sleeves were charmed by ribbon pleating and soft ruffling of the chiffon. The A-line skirt was defined by a wide flounce and ribbon pleating that flowed into a sweep train. The "old fashion" look was completed by a circular fingertip veil trimmed in venise lace and attached to a chiffon and lace Juliet cap.

She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and carried a silk handkerchief belonging to her maternal great-great grandmother. She also carried a colonial bouquet of pink and red sweetheart roses in a cloud of baby's breath, accented with streamers of old-fashioned lace interspersed with love knots, baby's breath, and pearls.

Mrs. Tommy Timmerman of Rockdale, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Suzanne Sims and Tami Gray of Thorndale; Shelley Timmerman of Arlington, and Zina Rodenbeck of Taylor.

The attendants were dressed alike in gowns of mauve pink cotton with long bell-shaped sleeves accented with wide white lace. The full skirt was edged in deep white lace and a wide sash was tied in a bow at the waist. They wore garlands of pink roses with lily-of-the-valley in their hair and carried open white Bibles, gifts of the bride, adorned with a single pink rose nestled in baby's breath and greenery and accented with pink bridal ribbon and pearls.

Wendell McQuary of Thorndale served as best man. Keith Kiesling, Randy Kelm, Mark Sims, all of Thorndale, and Mark Hendricks of Houston served as groomsmen.

Sammy Melde of Austin was flower girl. She wore a mauve pink cotton colonial dress, mid-calf, with long puffed sleeves. White clustered lace edged a ruffled yoke and the deep ruffle on the skirt. She wore white stockings and shoes and a pink bonnet edged in white lace and carried a white wicker basket arranged with pink roses and baby's breath.

Little Wade Timmerman of Rockdale, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer. He wore a knee-length suit of mauve pink with white knee socks and shoes.

Ushers were Joe Schneider of Corsicana and Jim Sims, Freddie Kelm, and Allen Kiesling, all of Thorndale. Acolytes for the service were Todd Timmerman of Arlington and John Youngblood of Cameron, cousins of the bride. Registering the guests entering the church was Donna Graham who was assisted by Sarah Youngblood.

The bride's mother wore a formal chiffon dress with matching accessories while the groom's mother wore a formal dress of pink and white knit and chiffon with matching accessories. Their corsages were spring bouquets which contained pink roses.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were from Houston, Sweeny, Alvin, Austin, Driftwood, Dallas, Cameron, Taylor, Bartlett, Arlington, Irving, Smiley, Lexington, Bartlett, Copeland, and Florida.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Fireman's Hall in Thorndale where a buffet meal of sliced barbecue was served.

Tables in the hall were decorated with white tablecloths. Pink streamers and white wedding bells adorned the hall throughout and a fountain of pink champagne was featured.

Members of the houseparty were Martha Wimberly of Franklin, Bette and Sarah Youngblood of Cameron, Donna Graham of Elgin, Lynne Falke, Lorna Biar, Connie Menzel, and Theresa Stolte of Thorndale, Laurel and Holly Davis of Rockwall, Mary Key Landrum of Bastrop, Eula Mae and Debbie Purcell of Austin, Jenny Shelton of Taylor, and Jean Timmerman of Arlington.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Thorndale High School. The groom graduated from TSTI in Waco where he majored in mechanical technology. He is employed with Eastman Kodak Company in Windsor, Colo., where the couple will make their home after a short trip.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mrs. Amy Rodenbeck of Taylor on Friday, June 18 in the Durango Room of Rudy Mikeska's Restaurant in Taylor. The table was decorated in white linen clothes complimented by a centerpiece of pink carnations. Honor attendants and guests were served barbecue with all the trimmings. The bride and groom presented their attendants with gifts at the close of the meal.

Ruta Lee To Star At Austin's Country Dinner Playhouse

Beautiful, buoyant, and bubbly Ruta Lee, one of Hollywood's best-liked personalities, will star in "The Owl and the Pussycat" at Austin's Country Dinner Playhouse from June 29 until August 8. Equally at home in films, television, stage, or radio, Ruta has the respect as well as the affection of her associates in every area. When she co-starred with Frank Sinatra in a "Sergeants" he described her as the best young talent in the business.

"The Owl and the Pussycat" involves only two people, a delightfully wicked, almost illiterate hooker and a straight-laced author, who first spies Doris (Ruta Lee) with a pair of binoculars. Mark Withers plays the part of the author, who suddenly finds his orderly life complicated by an uninhibited, unasked-for roommate. The hilarious goin' on of these two mismatched souls provides a delightful evening for Centex theatergoers.

College Notes

Cecilia Anderle of Cameron has been named to the list of Honor Students at McLennan Community College.

Miss Anderle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Anderle of Cameron, is a student in the registered nursing program at MCC.

To be named to the honor list, the student must maintain a grade point average of from 3.50 to 3.99 out of a possible 4.0 and must have carried a full course load of 12 or more semester hours and have completed all courses attempted during that semester.

Four area students have been named to the spring semester Dean's List at Sam Houston State University.

They are Edwin Lee Kohut, who earned a 3.0 grade point average, and Grace Elizabeth Smith, 3.5, both of Cameron.

Buckholts honorees were Richard W. Vaculin, 3.5; and Janet Laura Vansa, 4.0.

A perfect record of all "A" grades computes to a 4.0 grade point average while a record with all "B" grades computes to 3.0.

William Frank Perrin of Cameron was awarded a Master of Business Administration degree from The University of Texas Graduate School of Business at the end of the spring semester.

HD Club Members Attend Tour, Fun Day

By Chris Holcombe

On June 24, 35 Milam County Home Demonstration Club members and their guests participated in the annual EEE Committee tour and Fun Day in Waco.

While in Waco the group toured the Ranger Hall of Fame and Fort Fisher, had a picnic lunch in Cameron Park, and toured parts of Baylor campus. Following lunch the group visited the downtown mall area of Waco and the suspension bridge, and toured the Brazos River on the riverboat, The Brazos Queen. Following the riverboat ride, the group toured the rest of Cameron Park and the Lake Waco area. The trip concluded with a picnic snack on Lake Waco.

The group used the Rockdale High School chartered bus and the driver was Eldon Ball.

This trip is planned annually by the exhibit-expansion-education Committee of the Milam County Home Demonstration Council. Serving as chairman of the committee is Mrs. Foy Arrington of the New Salem Home Demonstration Club. Other committee members are Mrs. Roy Harris of the Tracy-Duncan H. D. Club, Mrs. Steve Polzer of the First Cameron H. D. Club, and Mrs. Julius Moultry of the Rockdale Ideal H. D. Club.

Accompanying the group on this tour were county extension agents Vivian Pittman and Chris Holcombe.

When utilities get squeezed too hard the local economy feels the pinch.

Right now, Lone Star, like all Texas gas companies, is caught in a squeeze. The average cost of the gas we buy from over 500 suppliers has skyrocketed. Yet we're meeting some strong resistance to recovering these costs from our customers.

Today, most cost recovery has to come through the gas cost adjustment. But, even with this pass-through we have been forced to initially absorb 15% of every price rise. This is a serious loss that must eventually be recovered.

So ask yourself: what will happen if Lone Star is unable to recover its costs?

The answer: we won't be able to buy the future supplies of natural gas this area needs. Already Lone Star is unable to add reserves of gas at the same rate it is being used. The thought of running out of reserves is not as far-fetched as you might think.

What will happen if this area runs short of natural gas? First, industry would be affected, since natural gas supplies about 50% of the energy for industry nationally, and even more in this area. With insufficient energy, industry could have to curtail production. Jobs could begin to disappear. Economic growth could slow down, even halt.

What can you do about it? Discuss it with friends, neighbors and business associates. Write to your local officials. Support a fair rate of return for your gas company, to which it is entitled by law.

Think of it as your own problem. Because when you get right down to it, it is.

Wearing Seat Belt Saves Lives

Will you be among the 25 percent of U. S. drivers who will have a traffic accident this year?

"It has been estimated that one out of every four drivers in the U. S. will have a traffic accident in 1976," says Dr. Gary Nelson, an agricultural safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Furthermore, highway accidents are the leading cause of death for Americans under age 25."

However, drivers can do some things to decrease their chances of being injured in a traffic accident.

"First and foremost, wear a seat belt," advises Nelson. "Experts estimate that 10,000 to 15,000 lives a year would be saved if everyone used seat belts while driving. Drivers who don't wear seat belts are greatly increasing the odds that they will be seriously injured or killed in a severe car accident by being thrown against the dashboard or windshield or out of the car."

"When a person is thrown out of a car, the chance of injury is much greater and they may roll over on the person."

Nelson points out that some people seem to feel that a seat belt will trap them if their car catches on fire or becomes submerged in water. However, there's more chance that a person not wearing a seat belt will be knocked unconscious in an accident and will thus be unable to escape at all. Also, seat belt releases have a reputation for being reliable and easy to use.

"Good vehicle maintenance is another thing drivers can do to prevent accidents," points out the Texas A&M University System engineer. "Don't put off making repairs. Make sure all vehicle parts are in good working condition and have your car tuned-up at least once a year."

The engineer also puts the blame of some traffic accidents on errors in the design of vehicles and highway systems. "More standardized equipment, such as the location of various switches, and safer design of highways would cut down on traffic accidents."

July Revival Services Set For Methodists

Starting Sunday, July 4, and continuing through the next three Sundays in July the First United Methodist Church of Cameron will hold revival services at their morning worship.

Everyone is urged to come and to invite their friends and join in the singing of gospel songs and choruses.

The services will be very informal and everyone is asked to dress informally.

Max McClaren will be the guest organist and Rev. Stanley Vodicka Jr. will lead the singing of the old favorite songs and conduct the worship hour.

McClaren Receives

Rotary Award

Cameron Rotary president, LaVert McKinney, recently received notification from Gene Neal, district governor of Rotary International, that Max McClaren has been awarded a Paul Harris Sustaining Membership Award.

This award was to have been presented at the district conference at Waco. McKinney made this presentation at a recent meeting.

McClaren has served as president, director, and pianist for the Cameron Rotary Club, and is at present vice-president. McClaren has served as area coordinator for President Neal during the past year.

Liberty Homecoming

The annual Liberty Homecoming will be held Sunday, July 4. Everyone is invited to come spend the day and meet and visit with old friends.

Lunch will be served at noon.

FOUR FREEDOMS

To print the story of a day or the thoughts of a mind . . . To gather in assembly to express common concerns . . . To talk to the man across the street or the millions across the land . . . To worship God according to the dictates of one's own conscience

The first three have sometimes been marred by abuse. The fourth is nullified by neglect.

Carry that thought with you — especially on Independence Day during the celebration of our nation's Bicentennial. And then, next Sunday, join all the rest of the millions of our people who are making sound and sacred use of their religious freedom.

These four freedoms stand like sentinels of Liberty.

Jai-Alai Proves Rousing Success In Connecticut

By Jack Cavanaugh

BRIDGEPORT

Reuter-Can a game played primarily by Spaniards and unfamiliar to most Americans catch on in staid old New England.

The game is Jai-Alai (pronounced hi-li) and the answer appears to be yes.

In less than one month, jai-alai (which means merry festival in Basque) has proved a rousing success in Connecticut and netted the state more than $350,000 in revenue.

The fast paced game has been played in Florida for years, drawing heavily on tourist money. Several years ago, a fronton (the arena where the game is played) opened in Las Vegas. Another one is scheduled to open in Newport, Rhode Island, later this month.

Both Florida and Nevada are heavily involved in gambling. But many observers of the nation's gambling scene doubted whether jai-alai would succeed in Connecticut which only recently legalized gambling.

Many of the world's leading jai-alai players are playing at the Bridgeport and Hartford frontons. The vast majority are from the Basque country of Spain.

In Bridgeport, for example, of the 39 players under contract, only three are Americans. The players include Churruarri, a 42-year-old superstar, Chimela, Orbea, and Eugribi.

Afficionados of the sport recognize the names. But to most Connecticut bettors, at least at the outset, they meant nothing. As a result, spectators had to play "hunches" or rely on the selection of handicappers. Even to the inexperienced, however, it soon became apparent who the better bets were.

Evolved from handball in the Basque provinces in the 17th century, jai-alai eventually spread to France, Italy, Cuba, Mexico, and the Philippines. Originally, it was a game played for diversion. For almost a century, the town of Marquina, Spain has been the game's hot bed, producing many of the world's leading players.

The 6,000-seat fronton here is the world's largest. As in other arenas, the games are played on a granite, three-walled court 175 feet long, 50 feet wide and 40 feet high. Using a crescent-shaped straw basket known as a cesta, the players hurl the rock-hard ball (the pelota) against the front wall (the frontis) at speeds of up to 175 miles per hour.

The object is to fling the ball against the frontis with such speed and spin that opponents cannot return it before it strikes the court a second time. That calls for lightning-fast reflexes, fast feet and hands--and courage.

Few will argue with the promoters' contention that it is the world's fastest game. It may also be one of the most dangerous. Players have been seriously injured and some have lost eyes when hit by the pelota.

But the money, dependent on a player's performance, is good. In Florida, average players earn about $15,000 for a four-month season. Star players earn twice as much.

When they aren't on the court, players are confined to a glass-enclosed room to the rear of the backcourt. A glass wall separates the players from the spectators who view the action from theatre-like seats on one side of the court. The game is played in both singles and doubles, with the first player or team to get seven points declared the winner.

Wagering is similar to that at race tracks. There is win, place, and show betting and a "daily double" (the winners of the first two games), along with quinellas (a bet on the win and place entries regardless of which finishes first or second) and other exotic forms of betting.

Perhaps because it is the only sport in America (except for Nevada) where humans can legally bet on humans, there has been an aura of suspicion over jai-alai. Yet in almost 50 years scandal has never attached to a jai-alai game or player in Florida. Players are discouraged from showing any emotion and are forbidden from making any gestures to the crowd.

The Bridgeport fronton was scheduled to open last November. But the opening was delayed indefinitely while the state investigated charges of illegal payoffs and other irregularities in the granting of the license. During subsequent hearings, the head of the Bridgeport fronton, David Friend, said he had paid a $250,000 bribe to the late John Bailey, the state democratic chairman and who served as national democratic chairman under John F. Kennedy, to help get a license. However, the allegation was never substantiated.

Beef Important Element Since Country's Birth

Talk with someone about typical American dishes and odds are you'll find yourself discussing beef. Beef is an important element in American cuisine and has been since America's birth 200 years ago... and even before that.

Cattle first came to the American Southwest with the Spanish in the 1500s and in 1624 with English settlers in New England. For early Americans cattle were an important food source; but in the chain of uses for cattle, meat was last. Cattle were, first, work animals; second, a source of milk; third, a source of hides; and lastly, meat.

Today, by-products are still valued but beef cattle are first a source of nutritious, versatile and tasty beef. The beef industry has improved cattle breeds, production methods, handling and transportation to the point where today's cook is guaranteed of the finest beef in the world. American beef is the world's standard for taste and tenderness. No wonder beef is America's favorite meat.

Beef recipes were originally passed from cook to cook, generation to generation, by word of mouth. The first cookbook to appear in America was published in 1742. Called "The Compleat Housewife" it was edited from an earlier English work by E. Smith.

The first truly American cookbook, called "American Cookery," was written and published in Connecticut in 1796 by Amelia Simmons. It was designed by the writer, herself an orphan, to help guide fellow orphans who had no one to teach them the skills of cooking.

Then, as now, beef was an important part of any cookbook. And recipes such as Colonial Steak and Kidney Pie or Beef Wellington have been preserved and improved upon for generations.

"The Bicentennial Beef Cookbook" published by the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board features 100 of the best beef recipes from America's first 200 years.

Colonial kitchen favorites to the early West's chuckwagon greasy, Pilgrim's Pot Roast to Planked Porterhouse Steak and Beef Jerky to High-Rise Hamburgers, America's rich heritage of beef cookery is captured in this 128-page book.

It also includes fascinating historical information and helpful sections on cookery methods, storing of beef, carving and much, much more. The cookbook is available by mail only. Send $2 (check or money order) to Bicentennial Beef Cookbook, Beef Industry Council, Dept. 76, 444 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois 60611.

SAN ANTONIO—Rev. Henry W. South of the M. E. Church has been traveling all over the mountain region of Western Texas with his sick wife, and he pronounces it the finest country for health and enjoyment he has ever seen. He says it is full of invalids from all over the world. Western Texas is becoming a general resort for visitors seeking health and many such will soon begin to establish permanent homes. Rev. South has been in the city for a few days and preached an excellent sermon in the Methodist Church on Sunday night.

Moving can be very troublesome. Especially when you're off to settle the wilderness. The roads were terrible. No restaurants along the way. Why, the trip itself took months.

But, if you were willing, the government would give you land. Land that was bought and paid for with money raised from Americans taking stock in their country.

So thousands had a little hand in every homestead. Today, millions of Americans are still taking stock in their country by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

Because whether you purchase Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan at work, or through the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank, you're putting your money where it counts the most. For you and for your country.

So buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

They'll put your savings on the right road.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deducted until redemption.

MURRAY-GO-ROUND

QUICKIES:

Who would triumph, the immortal Bobby Jones or Jack Nicklaus, if they were both playing today's modern Professional Golf Circuit? Byron Nelson, himself a links legend, gives the edge to Big Jack. Nelson qualifies as a judge, since he personally observed both. "To me, Jack is a tougher concentrator than Bob Jones was," Lord Byron says. "I don't think Jack ever lets anything upset him. I think Jack's the best clutch putter I ever saw if his life depended on it." ...Did you know that Bobby Knight, the Indiana National Championship Coach, once sought the job at the University of Texas?

Who is going to stop the Aggies? Emory Bellard has back three of the Front Four which spearheaded the Nation's Number One Defense in '75, End Tank Marshall, 245, plus Tackles Jimmy Dean, 260 Edgar Fields, 255. Two Starting Linebackers-- Robert Jackson, 240, and Grady Wilkerson, 230 are back and so is Lester Hays, the 213-pound safety who does the 100 in 9.3. ...Now, the Aggies have 'em stopped, how do they score? Well, Emory returns his two-year starting quarterback David Shipman, 6-3 and 215. Right behind him is George Woodward, the 250 pound fullback whoruns like a pro tackle with 9.8 speed. Then, they're suiting up Curtis Dickey, the 6-2, 207 pound schoolboy sensation who does the 100 in 9.3. Golly!

WHAT'S THAT?

It's a scream some of the Big Media Fellows are upset because the SWC would not reveal what was going on with investigations of Arkansas and UT. "The people have a right to know," they brayed, using that worn out bleat of the Political Mongers.

The ambulance was first used in 1792 when Baron Dominique Jean Larrey devised a specially built vehicle to carry wounded men from the battlefield. Larrey was Napoleon's personal surgeon.

Textile Mill Study Begins

AUSTIN Although Texas leads the nation in production of cotton, wool, and mohair, and is the leading supplier of feedstock for production of synthetic fiber, only one and a half percent of the fabric produced in the United States is woven in Texas.

"We're here to do something about that," according to Jim Heath of the Special Projects Division of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Heath is special advisor to the Joint House Committee on Textile Industry Development created by the 64th state legislature.

"Our current goals are to determine what areas of the state, besides the High Plains, are suited to textile milling and how to bring the textile mills to Texas," Heath said.

"This includes identifying textile specialty items to be produced in rural areas. This is more than just dreaming up cute items. We're talking about in-depth research into cost input and benefit return ratio to help industrial development groups and investor put these ideas into action."

Most of the textile milling in the nation is in the Southeastern states. Their process uses Texas raw products, and their raw cloth is then shipped back to one of Texas' more than 700 garment manufacturing plants.

"We want to eliminate the middle-man in the process," Heath said. "We want to make it feasible and enticing to investors to set up textile mills in Texas where the cost of transportation would be drastically reduced, and the cost to the customer of the finished garment would be lower."

The textile committee has spent the last several months acquainting themselves with the textile industry resources and processes in Texas, and is now in the stage of gathering data to outline a specific program to expand this industry.

The committee is co-chaired by Rep. E. L. Short of Tahoka and Armer Earwood, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association. Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene is vice chairman.

The major league baseball player who received most bases on balls was Babe Ruth. The Babe walked 2,056 times.

Sunset Brings New Noise To Texas Indian Reservation

INDIAN VILLAGE

Sunset at the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation no longer brings with it the familiar sounds of crickets and other night creatures. It is now replaced by booming cannons of the Texas Volunteer Army and the spectacle of assimilated lightning streaking through the natural background scenery of towering pine trees.

It is all a part of Beyond The Sundown, the historical outdoor drama of the East Texas Indians presented nightly except Sundays now through August 21. The Reservation is located between Livingston and Woodville 85 miles north of Houston.

Very little had been written about the history of the Tribes although they were settlers of the Big Thicket while still under the flag of Spain. How events led to the removal of other Indian Tribes in Texas but not the Alabama-Coushattas is the story skillfully presented in the form of modern choreography, sound effects, and an original musical score on the permanent stage of the 1,545 seat Sundown amphitheatre.

The outdoor drama is part of a tourist development program begun in 1965 by the Tribes to foster the economic growth of the some 500 tribal members living on the Reservation.

The tourist program now attracts over 250,000 visitors annually.

Managed by the Tribal Council, activities include a daily program by colorfully feathered Indian dancers, a tour through the Living Indian Village, a Big Thicket Reptile Garden Tour, and other interesting tours.

Campers will delight in the modern campgrounds with complete hookups. A curio shop with handmade Indian artifacts and restaurant opens daily at 9 a.m. with tours beginning at 9:30 a.m.

BEYOND THE SUNDOWN--Chief Antone seeks the advice of Abba Milkko, the Great Spirit, in the historical outdoor drama, "Beyond the Sundown" at the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation. The drama plays nightly except Sundays now through August 21.

Lightning Plays Pranks But Is Deadly Serious

Lightning sometimes plays strange tricks.

Once it struck and set fire to a house, then leaped to a nearby fire alarm box, set it off, and summoned the engines.

As a New Jersey farmer sat reading under a lamp in his home, lightning flashed along the wiring and singed off most of his hair, but did no other harm.

In Minneapolis, a lightning bolt hit a home and hurled a typewriter from a table, imbedding it in the ceiling. A closet door was torn off and thrown to the porch roof outside, but no one in the house was harmed.

Dangerous Despite Pranks

Despite its pranks, lightning is no laughing matter, the National Geographic Society says. It annually kills more people in the United States than do tornadoes, floods, or hurricanes.

Golf courses and other open areas are especially vulnerable during electrical storms, making golfers, farmers, swimmers, and hikers prime targets.

When a thunderstorm threatens, lightning experts agree that the most important thing a person can do is get inside a house or large building.

"Outdoor recreationists frequently overlook the fact that a metal automobile is an excellent shelter," says one authority.

"Even if struck, the car allows the current to be discharged harmlessly into the ground."

The fierce strokes that sear the earth menace more than lives. According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, lightning is the greatest single cause of forest fire in the western United States. Rocky Mountain forests suffer most from the 7,500 fires kindled by lightning each year.

Releases Tremendous Energy

An electrical storm involves tremendous amounts of energy. A single thunderstorm can release into the atmosphere energy equivalent to a one-megaton hydrogen bomb.

And since some 50,000 thunderstorms pummel earth each day, the daily energy released to the atmosphere equals billions of tons of TNT.

Even as a thunderstorm reaches violent maturity, it starts to die. The downdraft initially shares the circulation with the sustaining updraft, then strangles it.

As the updraft is separated from converging low-level winds, the disturbance loses moisture and heat energy. Precipitation first weakens, then stops, and the cold downdraft ceases.

The menacing thunder and lightning storms that sometimes take lives, uproot trees, flatten crops, and splinter buildings also shower bountiful blessings on the earth.

Lightning frees nitrogen from the air, and rain washes it into the soil as a valuable fertilizer at the rate of a 100 million tons a year.
